

Module 7 Assignment: AI, Faith, and Humanity

Introduction

In this assignment, you will interact with AI systems to examine questions of faith, spirituality, and what it means to be human. This will serve two purposes. First, to identify how different AI systems engage in faith and spirituality-related questions. Second, to explore how engagement with AI systems on these questions differs from discussions with humans.

If you are not Christian, or even non-religious, take this assignment from whatever perspective you do have. This could be from another faith tradition, or shade towards philosophical or ethical.

Work on this assignment ahead of time; you will truly get out of this what you put into it.

Part 1: Faith and Spirituality Question Creation

Part 1: Faith and Spirituality Question Creation

- Task: Generate questions about faith and spirituality that genuinely interest you. Take time to reflect on some of the deeper questions you have or have had, whether those are specific theological questions or broader philosophical questions.
 - Create 5 questions using prompt engineering techniques from Module 5 to ensure both humans and LLMs can answer meaningfully. Name the prompt engineering technique you used for each question.
 - Example starter questions:
 - What does it mean to have a “soul” or “spirit”? Could AIs ever have either?
 - How does the Imago Dei influence humans' view of creativity and work?
 - Can AI ever truly “know” God, or will it forever be limited to simulating religious language?

Part 2: The AI Faith Interview

- Task: Engage three different LLMs using your Part 1 questions. Ask questions and create a conversation (ask for clarification, push back, explore alternative theological or philosophical positions). Try to push the limits of what these AI systems can do.
- Reflection: Write 250–500 words addressing:
 - Did it feel like a “conversation”?
 - How conversant was the AI with your questions?
 - How did it feel “talking” about faith with AI?
 - Did any models seem evasive or avoid sensitive religious topics

Part 3: The Human Faith Interview

Complete this only after Part 2 has been completed.

- Task: Interview one or more humans using your Part 1 questions. These could be faith leaders, small group members, congregation members, knowledgeable individuals, or anyone you believe would have good responses to your questions. Please note: the quality of your interaction will really depend on if the person is conversant in these topics, so work ahead of time to set up the conversation. Before beginning, be sure to discuss the parameters of this assignment, and assure them their responses will remain confidential. Ask your questions, along with follow-ups, clarifications, and push-backs.
- Reflection: Write 250–500 words addressing:
 - How did talking to a human differ from AI?
 - Was the conversation deeper or more meaningful?
 - Which interaction was more engaging?
 - Where would you turn for these types of questions in the future?
